

Figure 1: Oracle Relational Database Diagram for the Intercollegiate Athletic Database

All foreign key columns are required except for EventPlan.EmpNo. When a column is required, the user must enter a valid value according to the specified integrity rules (including referential integrity). For example when entering a new row in the EventRequest table, the user must know the customer number.